¬ he Bologna Children's Book Fair (BCBF) − the world's leading event in the children's publishing industry - celebrates its 60th birthday in 2023! We are looking forward to welcoming the international book community to Bologna next March. A wideranging programme of initiatives is already lined up, with exciting new features extending the fair's offering and international reach. But travelling is also part of BCBF's international DNA! The Bologna Children's Book Fair has already taken its flair and expertise around the world. Following last year's success, BCBF is again this year embarking on a special Grand Tour, bringing Bologna to four prestigious international trade fairs to meet the global book community before the big dates of 6 to 9 March 2023. Previewed in New York in early October, the Grand Tour officially opens in Frankfurt to continue on to Sharjah, Guadalajara and Montreal. An important part of the tour is also BolognaBookPlus - a brand extension of the Bologna Children's Book Fair reaching out to general trade publishing, launched in collaboration with the Italian Publishers Association (AIE) – and the Bologna Licensing Trade Fair/Kids, the licensing trade show for subsidiary rights of brands and properties for children and teens. Bologna is fielding an impressive programme of initiatives at these international venues, with the participation of prominent international guests. The Tour is also an exceptional opportunity to promote Italian publishing excellence and the great value of Made in Italy. This extensive project has been made possible thanks to the active support the Italian Trade Agency and Ministry of Foreign Affairs and International Cooperation have lent in this amazing journey.

At the Salon du Livre de Montreal, BCBF presents a selection of excellent, recently published Italian comic books for children. The Italian comics market is thriving, which has encouraged widespread research and artistic experimentation in the genre. In order to explore this lively publishing area, BCBF has launched an annual BolognaRagazzi Comics Award spotlighting the best international comic books for young readers.

BLTF/Kids is the international licensing trade show devoted to subsidiary rights of brands and properties for children and teens. Attended by the major international licensing and entertainment players, BLTF/Kids is located at the heart of BCBF.
