

BAHIYA,

THE LITTLE ZEBRA

Written by Nahida Esmail
Illustrated by Randa Abubakr

She thanked Dalia and trotted happily home.

Her mother was very shocked to see her like that. She raised her eyebrow at Bahiya, but she did not say anything.

Dalia loved the idea and got out her painting kit. She chose a paintbrush from her wide range and scratched her head as she looked through her paints. She wanted to choose the right colours to make her friend look striking.

“Get ready. Here comes the paint!” she shouted as she started painting over Bahiya’s stripes.